09-07-1954

It was unanimously felt that the conference was held very well and very timely. It believed that the issues that should be raised and resolved in the work of the people's public security were generally resolved appropriately. I think this meeting is extremely important for further strengthening the people's public security work in the future, defending the country's socialist construction and ensuring the smooth implementation of socialist transformation.

This meeting, in accordance with the spirit of the Fourth Plenary Session of the Seventh Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, conducted extensive and profound criticism and self-criticism. The public security cadres (first of all, senior cadres at the provincial and municipal level) have been exposed and criticized, and all the comrades present at the conference, especially the leading cadres, have received a relatively profound education. Many comrades reported that after this meeting, they had a deeper and more concrete experience of the spirit of the Fourth Plenary Session of the Seventh Central Committee of the Party. It has played a very good role in conscientiously overcoming bureaucracy in the public security system and getting rid of arrogance.

While discussing the strengthening of the reconnaissance work of specialized agencies, the meeting emphasized the need to prevent the growth of isolationism and mysticism, adhere to the leadership of the party committee and the mass line, and criticized certain one-sided views expressed on this issue.

After the policies and tasks have been clarified, everyone is very concerned about the correct solution to the guarantee of organizational work. All localities require the correct and appropriate adjustment of the organization and establishment of the public security organs at all levels and the various public security business departments, and the effective improvement of the cadre's political and At the professional level, doing a good job in cadre training and training requires strengthening the specific leadership of various public security operations and effectively overcoming the bureaucracy of the public security leading organs. It is believed that these are the keys to the realization of the policies and tasks of the Sixth Public Security Conference. In this regard, the Central Ministry of Public Security has drafted a preliminary plan for the transfer of regional work after the abolition of the region, and the adjustment of the public security system organization, and solicited the opinions of the comrades from the public security organs at or above the provincial and municipal levels. After the conference, a special meeting was held to conduct research. In the summary, it also addresses the shortcomings of the leaders of the Central Ministry of Public Security and the provincial and municipal public security organs.

Re-proposed issues such as leaders' hands-on business and strengthening work inspections. In addition, the meeting raised issues concerning border defense work, work on ethnic minorities, military defense work, work on factory and mine protection organizations, and work on the Yangtze River. Small special symposiums were held and solutions were put forward. Some have been resolved in the summary

Some have been listed as special issues for further study and resolution.
